

Dutch Colonial Revival—1890 through 1915

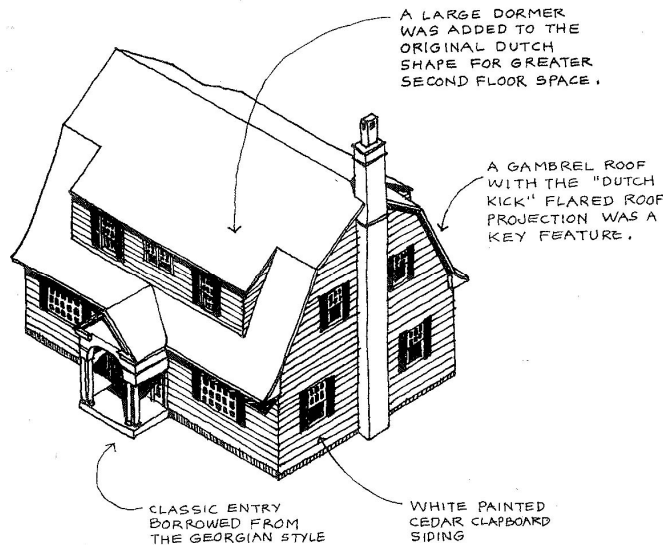

The Dutch Colonial Revival style is a version of the Colonial Revival style. It has all the typical features of the Colonial Revival style, with one major exception, the incorporation of a gambrel roof. There are a small number of Dutch Colonial Revival style homes in the City, exemplified left and below, as the style was not as popular as the Colonial style, or other revival styles.

Roof

The typical roof style for a Dutch Colonial Revival is a gambrel roof with dormers on the second story.

Other Features

See Colonial Revival style for other features typically found in Dutch Colonial Revival homes.

Dutch Colonial Revival Architectural Features